

THE WAYSIDE PULPIT

Directions for building the bulletin board

STOCK White pine, cypress, or oak may be used, but all things considered, white pine is the most satisfactory wood. It can be finished to correspond with the woodwork of the church; it is light; it stands the weather. Cypress is durable, but is liable to shrink and swell. Oak, of course, is heavy and more costly.

FIGURE 1 A board should be jointed 28 inches by 41 inches to be used the LONG WAY HORIZONTALLY. The printed sheets are of this size. In use, the sheets should be attached to this board by means of thumbtacks.

FIGURE 2 This represents the frame-work to receive the board which was shown in Figure 1. The post at the two sides should be of stock 2 inches by 3 inches, the face being 3 inches and the thickness from front to back 2 inches. There are two cross bars which should be the same stock. The header across the top should be 2 inches by 4½ inches.

FIGURE 3 Shows a side view of the frame, which is shown in Figure 2 but with the addition of a door in front.

FIGURE 4 Shows the frame with the door added, indicating the way in which the frame of the door will conceal the edges of the paper and the thumbtacks by which the paper is attached to the board.

FIGURE 6 Represents a frame with an extra panel which can be added to the top as indicated, in order to give the name of the church and any fixed announcements such as the hour of service.

FIGURE 7 Is a side view. The door should be hinged at the side.

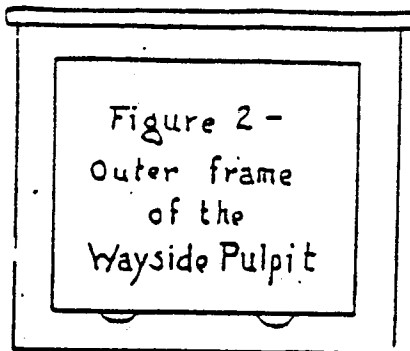

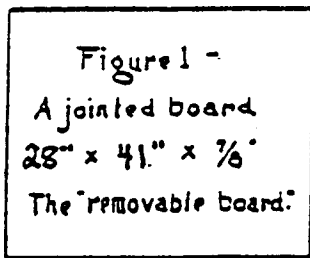

FIGURE 8 Is a full-size drawing of the upper right hand corner of Figure 2 showing the dimensions of the posts used in the frame.

FIGURE 9 Is a cross section showing the right hand post, the door, the glass, the bulletin board, and the sheathing on the back. It will be observed that the sheathing on the back is set into the thickness of the post, thus making the whole structure more secure against the weather. The manner in which the glass is set into the frame of the door is indicated.

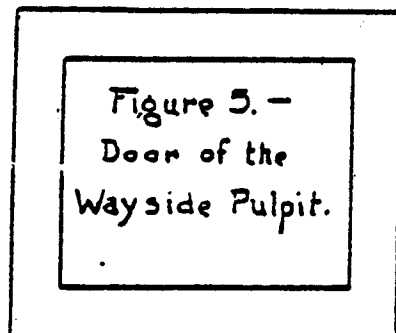

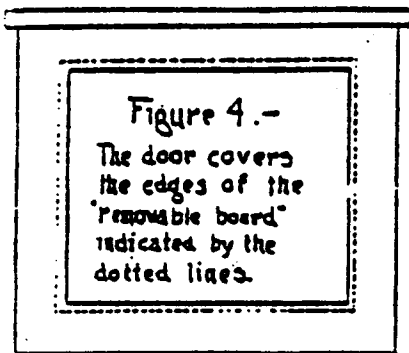

HANDHOLDS Just beneath the removable board, make two sloping cuts in the lower crossbar of the frame. These will be found convenient in taking out the removable board. See Figure 2.

Wayside Pulpit

Unitarian Universalist Association
 5 Beacon Street, Boston, Massachusetts 02108

Without the header, this frame is 34" x 47"; outside measurement and 28" x 41" inside measurement.

Door Stock 3/8" x 4"
 Door to be 34" x 47"
 outside measurement.
 and
 26" x 39" inside
 measurement.
 Corners "halved"
 and not mitred.

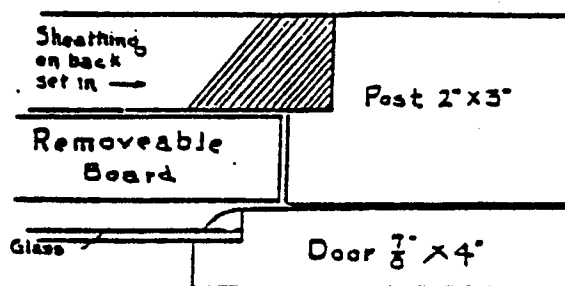

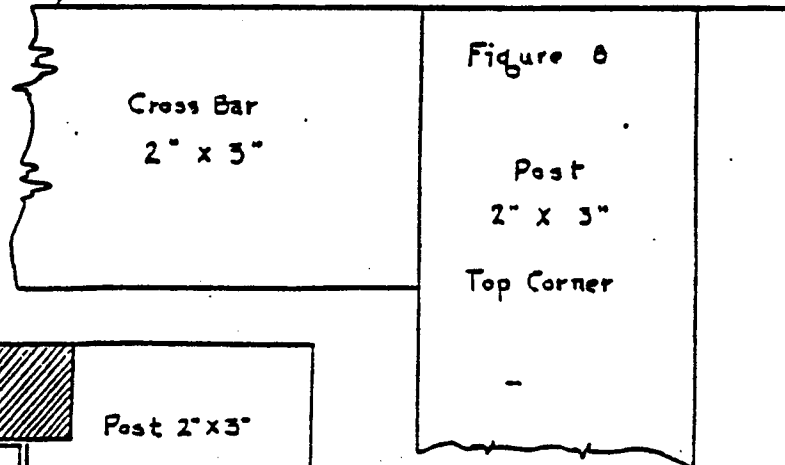

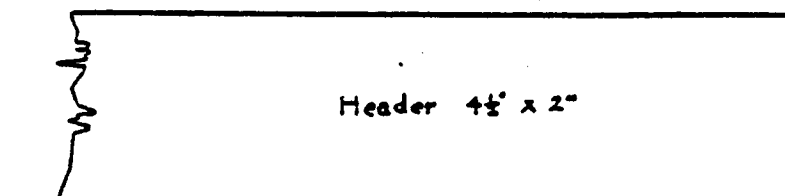

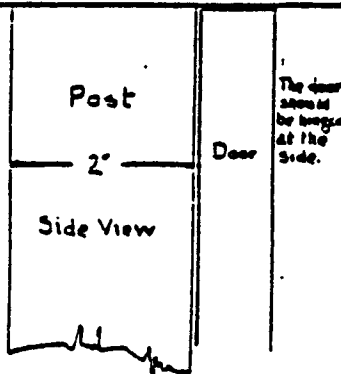

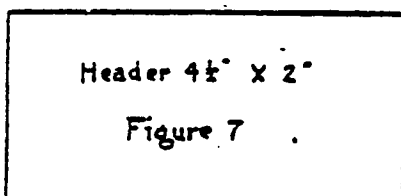

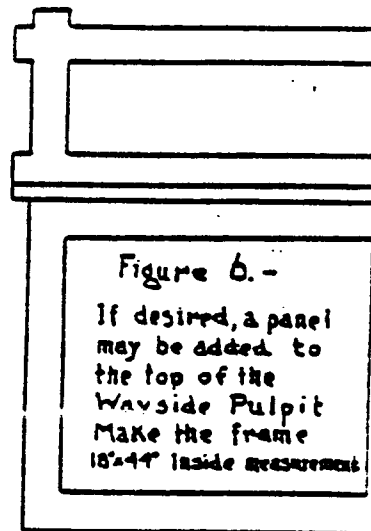

Figure 9
 Looking down on a corner post.

THE WAYSIDE COMMUNITY PULPIT™

SERIES 6

The freedom of the mind is the beginning of all other freedoms.

—Clinton Lee Scott

May your life preach more loudly than your lips.

—William Ellery Channing

To be religious is not to feel, but to be.

—Reinhold Niebuhr

If you cannot find it in yourself, where will you go for it?

—Chinese proverb

Unanswered questions are far less dangerous than unquestioned answers.

—source unknown

You need not think alike to love alike.

—Francis David

An idea is a curious thing. It will not work unless you do.

—Jaeger's Facts

There's more to life than increasing its speed.

—Mahatma Gandhi

I make the most of all that comes, And the least of all that goes.

—Sarah Teasdale

The strictest justice is sometimes the greatest injustice.

—Terence

To lead the people, walk behind them.

—Lao Tzu

To become a father is not hard. To be a father is.

—Wilhelm Busch

To dream of the person you would like to be is to waste the person you are.

—Anon

Your children need your presence more than your presents.

—Jesse Jackson

A closed mind is like a closed book, just a block of wood.

—Chinese proverb

Growth itself contains the germ of happiness.

—Pearl S. Buck

Never lose a holy curiosity.

—Albert Einstein

Church is a place where you get to practice what it means to be human.

—James Luther Adams

THE WAYSIDE COMMUNITY PULPIT

SERIES 7

It is never too late to be what you might have been.

—George Eliot

The aging aren't only the old; the aging
are all of us.

—Alexandra Robbin

And how are the children?

—Masai warrior greeting

If you understood everything I said,
you'd be me.

—Miles Davis

No question is ever answered until it is settled right.

—Ella Wheeler Wilcox

God means movement, and not explanation.

—Elie Wiesel

I was thinking of the greatness of what was human, and found myself in the divine.

—Juan Ramón Jiménez

You don't have anything if you don't have the stories.

—Leslie Marmon Silko

Without justice, courage is weak.

—Benjamin Franklin

Each snowflake in an avalanche pleads
not guilty.

—Stanislaw J. Lee

How we spend our days is, of course,
how we spend our lives.

—Annie Dillard

Now is the accepted time, not tomorrow, not some more convenient season.

—W.E.B. DuBois