The 2023-24 UU Common Read is
On Repentance and Repair: Making Amends in an Unapologetic World by Danya Ruttenberg.

Most of us know of harm we have directly caused another person. Many also recognize we have shared in doing harm, perhaps by benefiting from injustice others suffer. Even as people of faith who wish to make ourselves and our world better, we still may struggle to name and accept our responsibility. Even when we wish to make amends, we can get stuck on how to make things right.

In On Repentance and Repair (Beacon Press, 2022) RABBI DANYA RUTTENBERG provides a fresh, transformative perspective on how we make ourselves accountable to others.

This Common Read offers a glimpse into Judaism, one of our faith's foundational sources, as we follow Rabbi Ruttenberg's dive into prescriptions on accountability offered by the twelfth-century Jewish physician and scholar Maimonides. The book unpacks Maimonides' five-step process: owning the harm we have done, starting to change, making restitution and accepting consequences, apologizing, and going forward in life as a changed person who will make different choices.

Using Maimonides' writing as a framework, Ruttenberg points us toward modern day practices of repentance that can really make a difference in our relationships. The UU Common Read selections invite us to follow our faith into transformative atonement, whether a harm has been done with family or friends, within a congregation or other community, or by sweeping wrongs such as genocide and racial oppression.

The UU Common Read builds community in our congregations and our movement by giving diverse people a shared platform for reflection and a shared focus for action. A common read can take us on a powerful journey as we explore what it is to be human and accountable in a pain-filled world.

Seeds of a New Way

Nurturing Authentic and Diverse
Religious Leadership

Manish Mishra-Marzetti &
Nancy McDonald-Ladd

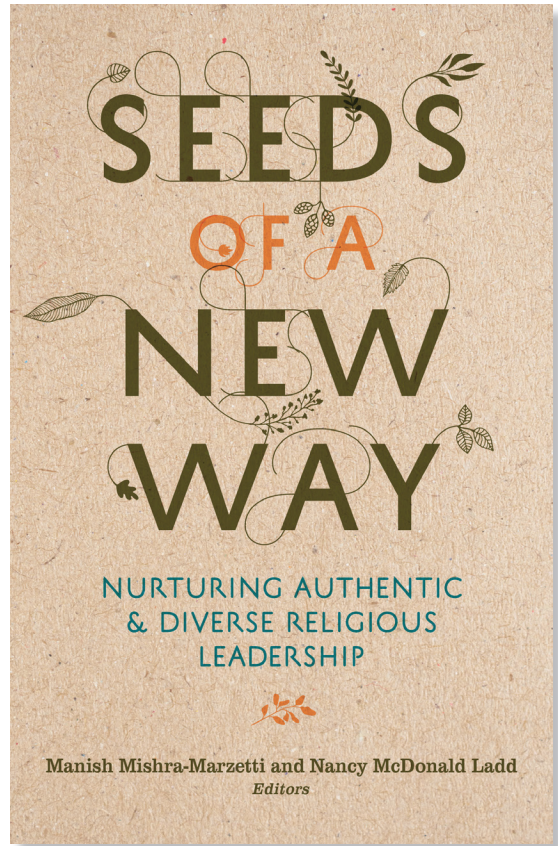

What will it take for diverse leadership within Unitarian Universalism to truly thrive and contribute to a radiant and inclusive future? In Seeds of a New Way, editors Manish Mishra-Marzetti and Nancy McDonald Ladd and contributors explore how to foster and nourish diverse and authentic leadership within congregations.

Building on the foundations of Centering: Navigating Race, Authenticity, and Power in Ministry, this collection offers a glimpse into the forming edge of the shared journey happening right now to make diverse leadership more survivable and vibrant. Rather than presenting one definitive pathway, Seeds of a New Way recognizes that the specific context and relationships within any given setting will shape the journey and so brings together a diverse array of perspectives, experiences, and strategies to illustrate a range of considerations and possibilities.

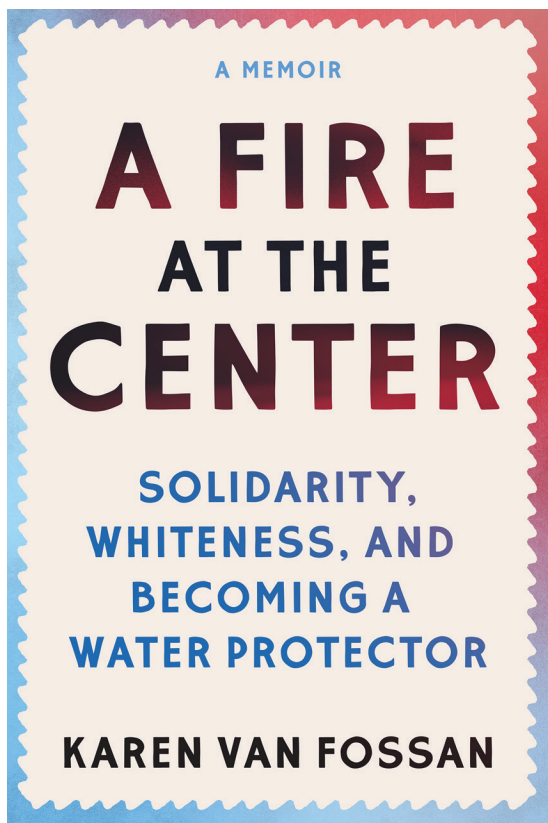

As communities strive to live into the potential and joy of Beloved Community, these essays will inspire them to seed and nourish a new way.

REV. MANISH MISHRA-MARZETTI is senior minister of the First Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Ann Arbor, Michigan. He has served extensively in denominational leadership, including as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Unitarian Universalist Service Committee and the UUA. He is co-editor of Justice on Earth and Conversations with the Sacred: A Collection of Prayers.

NANCY MCDONALD LADD is senior minister of the River Road Unitarian Universalist Congregation in Bethesda, Maryland. She is a national leader in broad-based community organizing and has served on the adjunct faculty at Meadville Lombard Theological School. She is the author of After the Good News: Progressive Faith Beyond Optimism.

A Fire at the Center

Solidarity, Whiteness, and Becoming a Water Protector
Karen Van Fossan

This is a story of becoming and un-becoming. When the living waters that crisscrossed the Standing Rock reservation came under threat, Karen Van Fossan asked herself what it means to resist her own colonial culture. When another pipeline came to threaten Anishinaabe ways of life, the question became even more resounding.

A Fire at the Center takes readers behind the scenes of the Dakota Access Pipeline conflict, to penitentiaries where prisoners of war have carried the movement onward, to the jail cell where she was held for protesting Line 3, to a reimagining of decolonized family constellations, and to moments of collective hope and strength.

Guided by the generous teachings of Oceti Sakowin Camp near Standing

Rock, Van Fossan investigates layers of colonialism—extractive industries, mass incarceration, broken treaties, disappearances of Indigenous people—and the boundaries of imperial whiteness.

For all those striving for liberation and meaningful allyship, Van Fossan's learnings and practices of genuine, mutual solidarity and her thoughtful critique of whiteness will be transformational.

KAREN VAN FOSSAN is an abolitionist, ordained minister, licensed professional counselor, and former defendant in the Line 3 pipeline resistance. As director of Authentic Ministry, she serves as a street chaplain committed to relational spirituality and restorative justice. She has studied at Naropa University, United Theological Seminary of the Twin Cities, and Pacific School of Religion. She lives in Fargo, North Dakota, on the traditional lands of Anishinaabe, Lakota/Dakota, and many other Indigenous peoples.

Through the Lens of Whiteness

Challenging Racialized
Imagery in Pop Culture

Diane S. Grimes & Liz Cooney

An essential resource for anyone who wants to enter the next stage of their antiracist journey—recognizing, analyzing, and confronting the perpetuation of racism in our visual world.

Images in the news, social media, advertisements, memes, websites, and selfies shape how we understand ourselves, our society, and our world. Even the images we don't see have an impact on our daily lives. But images are not innocent. Our racial identities, assumptions, histories, and biases filter the images we absorb and affect how we interpret them. Are they problematic? How can you tell? Why should you care?

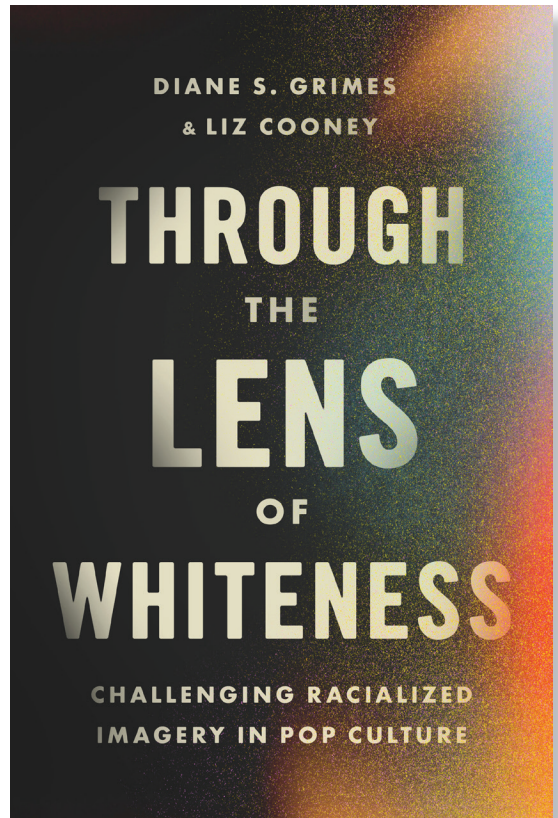

Through the Lens of Whiteness: Challenging Racialized Imagery in Pop Culture teaches readers visual literacy tools that expose racist messages, conventions, and symbols in images.

Authors Diane S. Grimes and Liz Cooney help readers understand these patterns with detailed analysis of images and personal stories to dismantle existing biases and develop an antiracist perspective. Grimes and Cooney are guided by the principle that white people bear the responsibility for dismantling racist structures and so primarily address white readers, but also offer this book in the hope that it will be a powerful tool of resistance for all readers.

DIANE S. GRIMES is an associate professor of communication and rhetorical studies at Syracuse University. Her scholarship has been published in various organizational and communication journals, including Management Communication Quarterly and Tamara: Journal of Critical Postmodern Organization Science, among others.

LIZ COONEY is a queer author from Des Moines, Iowa. Her work focuses on helping people communicate more effectively through valuing differences and navigating difficult conversations.

The Tending Years

Understanding Your Child's Earliest Rituals

J. L. Shattuck

Have you ever wondered why your toddler will only drink from a specific cup, or only eat if you turn mealtime into a game? Have you ever found yourself following along with your child's increasingly elaborate bedtime routines?

In The Tending Years, J. L. Shattuck argues that these behaviors are not just habits but rituals—patterns of behavior young children naturally develop to reassure themselves they are safe and loved. Shattuck draws on child developmental theory and decades of experience as a teacher, religious educator, and parent to explore the spiritual roots of this behavior. She demonstrates how adults and young children instinctively work together to support each other's growth during this unique developmental period.

Unlike parenting books that ask you to change the way you interact with your child, this easy-to-read volume details the ways in which you're already tending to your child's needs and offers inspiration and support to help you through the preschool years and beyond.

J. L. SHATTUCK has worked with preschoolers for more than twenty years. A lifelong UU, she supports congregations to meet the spiritual needs of the very young. She currently serves as family worship coordinator at Sanctuary Boston and is a religious educator at the Unitarian Church of Barnstable. She is also the creator of a curriculum of digital resources, POP! (Parents of Preschoolers), that helps families explore and support their children's spiritual development.

Authentic Selves

Celebrating Trans and Nonbinary
People and Their Families

Interviews by Peggy Gillespie

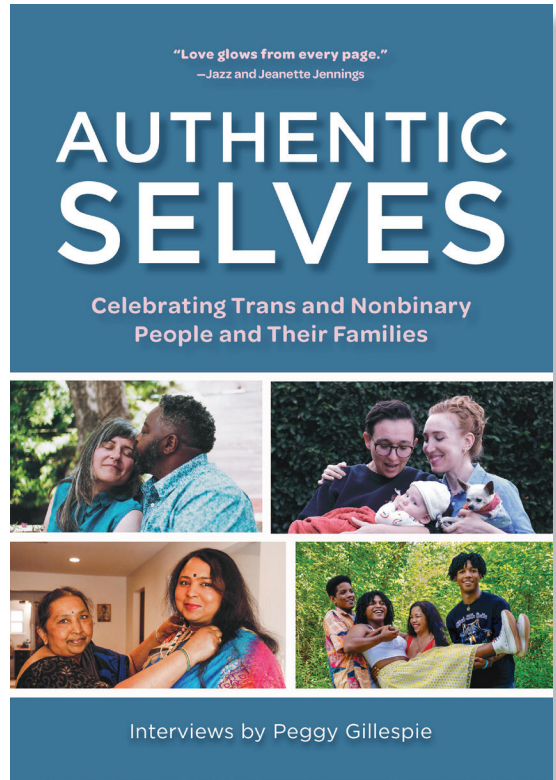

Groundbreaking in its depictions of joy and community, Authentic Selves celebrates trans and nonbinary people and their families in stunning photographs and their own words. Foreword by transgender activist Jazz Jennings and her mom and fellow activist, Jeanette Jennings.

Authentic Selves is a sweeping compilation of life stories and portraits of trans and nonbinary people, as well as their partners, parents, children, siblings, and chosen family members.

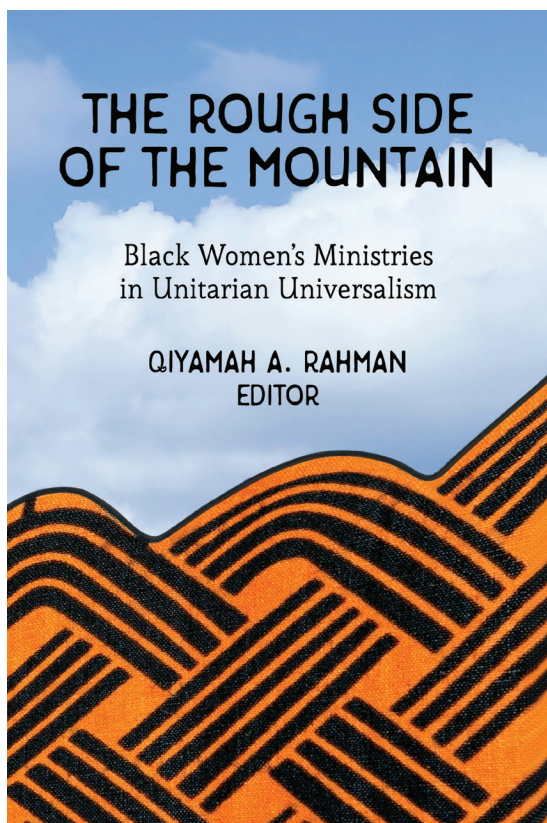

The compelling stories here provide a glimpse into the real lives, both the challenges and the triumphs, of these remarkable people and their families—people like Senator Sarah McBride, disability justice advocate Parker Glick, drag entertainer TAYLOR ALXNDR, September 11th first responder Jozeppi Morelli, model Lana Patel, youth activist Elliott Bertrand, and so many others—all of whom are working to create a more just, diverse, and compassionate world.

PEGGIE GILLESPIE, MA, CSW, is the cofounder and director of Family Diversity Projects, a non-profit organization devoted to helping eliminate prejudice, stereotyping, bullying, and harassment of people who are discriminated against due to sexual orientation, gender identity, race, national origin, religion, and disabilities of all kinds. Gillespie is also an actor and performed recently in the award-winning show A 24-Decade History of Popular Music starring Taylor Mac.

Incantations for Rest

Poems, Meditations and Other Magic

Atena O. Danner

"I don't really comprehend the age and size of the world, but I know I am a part of it. A single life among billions is as big as any star."

Incantations for Rest is an invitation to slow down and explore every kind of rest, providing sacred space for those exhausted by the demands of a racist, ableist society. This stunning collection of poems, meditations, and magic by poet-activist Atena O. Danner is an examination of spiritual spaces, a love letter to Black well-being, and medicine for BIPOC people.

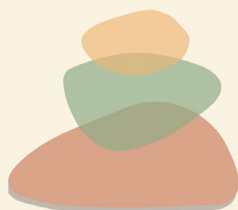

ATENA O. DANNER is an unapologetically Black, time-traveling poet-activist who dwells in the past to survive the future. She writes toward Beloved Community, Black liberation, and collective imagination. Atena Danner lives near the traditional homelands of the people of the Council of the Three Fires and of the Menominee, Miami, and Ho-Chunk nations with her partner, pets, and two free Black children.

Why Can't I Fix It?

The Questions We Ask When We
Love Someone With Addiction

Nathan Detering

When Rev. Nathan Detering shared the story of his brother's death from a drug overdose with the members of his congregation, many of them shared their own addiction stories with him. Realizing the healing power of sharing stories and questions in community, Rev. Detering conducted interviews to identify and address the common questions that haunt us when we love someone with addiction. Weaving together his own and others' deeply felt experiences of addiction, Rev. Detering responds to sometimes desperate questions such as: Why can't I fix it? And while the answers to these questions aren't easily found, Why Can't I Fix It? encourages those of us who are struggling with our loved one's addictions to practice self-care and self-compassion, understand the cultural context for emotional responses and expectations of ourselves and others, and reach out for support.

REV. NATHAN DETERING serves as the senior minister of the Unitarian Universalist Area Church at First Parish in Sherborn, Massachusetts, a position he has held since 2003. He lives in Holliston, Massachusetts, with his family.

Care for the World

Reflections on Community Ministry
Erin J. Walter, Editor

In Care for the World: Reflections on Community Ministry, editor Erin J. Walter and contributors offer essays, interviews, and resources to revolutionize our understanding of ministry, lifting up the rich diversity of community ministries—both lay and ordained and led by religious leaders with a broad range of life experiences, identities, and communities of care—within Unitarian Universalism. These reflections show the immense and vital work that Unitarian Universalists are doing in the world and will inspire readers to live a spirited, purposeful life, rooting their daily work in their deepest values and faith.

REV. ERIN J. WALTER serves as the minister and executive director for the Texas Unitarian Universalist Justice Ministry and a coach for Beloved Conversations. Rev. Walter is the singer/songwriter/bassist for the band Parker Woodland and teaches dance as a joy practice. She is affiliated with Wildflower Church in Austin, Texas, and the Church of the Larger Fellowship.

The Darkness Divine

A Loving Challenge to My Faith

Kristen Harper

In The Darkness Divine, minister and poet Kristen L. Harper confronts the language, imagery, and cultural touchstones that demean and dehumanize Black people but can easily escape notice. More importantly, Rev. Harper lifts up the strength, beauty, and resilience of Black people and invites readers to explore what they have learned and assimilated so they might de-center whiteness and stretch their understanding and imagination to radically transform their perceptions of blackness.

REV. KRISTEN L. HARPER is minister of the Unitarian Church of Barnstable, Massachusetts, where she has served for 18 years. She received her D.Min from Meadville Lombard Theological School in 1999, and was only the second Black woman to be called to a Unitarian Universalist Congregation as sole minister.

Rainbow Parenting

Your Guide to Raising Queer Kids and Their Allies

Lindz Amer

Rainbow Parenting is an indispensable stepping stone for adults who want to raise and teach kids in a queer and gender-affirming way, but might not know how. Lindz Amer is an expert guide, leading readers through practical applications, important LGBTQ+ history, key lessons in intersectionality, pronouns, social justice, and more. Divided by sections that address kids' individual ages—from infancy to kindergarten—this joyful and approachable book shares a bit of hope and starts with the understanding that anyone can spread queer joy.

By giving parents and their kids a vocabulary to express themselves, Rainbow Parenting ultimately aims to create more empathetic adults—and spreads a message of radical acceptance in a world where it's sometimes dangerous to just be yourself.

No Meat Required

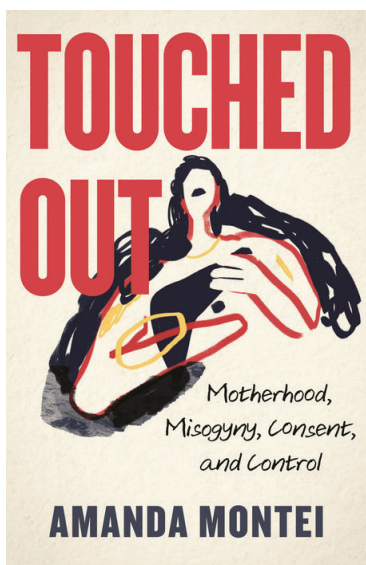

The Cultural History and Culinary Future of Plant-Based Eating

Alicia Kennedy

A culinary and cultural history of plant-based eating in the United States that delves into the subcultures and politics that have defined alternative food.

In No Meat Required, author Alicia Kennedy chronicles the fascinating history of plant-based eating in the United States, from the early experiments in tempeh production undertaken by the Farm commune in the 70s to the vegan punk cafes and anarchist zines of the 90s to the chefs and food writers seeking to decolonize vegetarian food today.

No Meat Required brings depth and context to our understanding of vegan and vegetarian cuisine, and makes a passionate argument for retaining its radical heart.

Touched Out

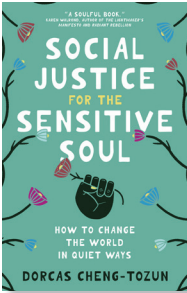

Motherhood, Misogyny, Consent, and Control

Amanda Monte

In this stunning blend of memoir, theory, and cultural criticism, a new mother examines the intersection between misogyny and motherhood, considering how caregivers can take back their bodies and pass on a language of consent to their children.

Drawing on classic feminist thinkers such as bell hooks, Silvia Federici, and Adrienne Rich, Amanda Monte draws connections between caregiving, consent, reproductive control, and the sacrifices women are expected to make throughout their lives. Exploring the stories we tell about psychology, childbirth, sexuality, the family, the overwhelm mothers feel trying to be “good,” and the tender bonds that form between parent and child, Touched Out delivers a powerful critique of American rape culture and its continuation in the institution of motherhood.

Our Migrant Souls

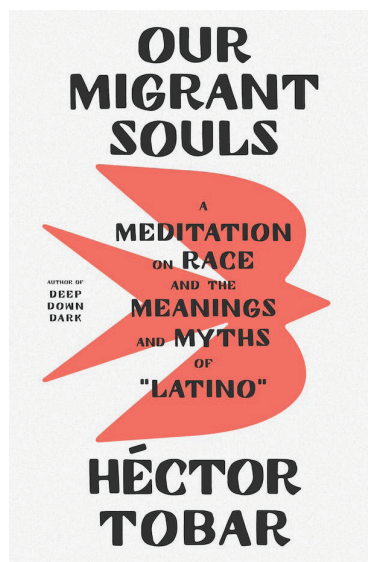

A Meditation on Race and Meanings
and Myths of "Latino"

Héctor Tobar

Pulitzer Prize-winning writer Héctor Tobar delivers a definitive and personal exploration of what it means to be Latin* in the United States right now.

"Latino" is the most open-ended and loosely defined of the major race categories in the United States, and also one of the most rapidly growing. Taking on the impacts of colonialism, public policy, immigration, media, and pop culture, Our Migrant Souls decodes the meaning of "Latino" as a racial and ethnic identity in the modern United States, and gives voice to the anger and the hopes of young Latin* people who have seen Latinidad transformed into hateful tropes and who have faced insult and division.

Tobar translates his experience as not only a journalist and novelist but also a mentor, a leader, and an educator.

Loving Our Own Bones

Disability Wisdom and the Spiritual
Subversiveness of Knowing Ourselves Whole

Julia Watts Belser

Open the Bible and disability is everywhere. Moses stutters and thinks himself unable to answer God's call. Jesus heals the sick, the blind, the paralyzed, and the possessed. For centuries, these stories have been told and retold by commentators who treat disability as misfortune, as a metaphor for spiritual incapacity, or as a challenge to be overcome.

Loving Our Own Bones turns that perspective on its head. Drawing insights from the hard-won wisdom of disabled folks who've forged difference into fierce and luminous cultural dissent, Julia Watts Belser offers fresh and unexpected readings of familiar biblical stories, showing how disability wisdom can guide us all toward a powerful reckoning with the complexities of the flesh.

24 Hours in Charlottesville

An Oral History of the Stand Against White Supremacy
Nora Neus

In August 2017, armed neo-Nazi demonstrators descended on the University of Virginia campus and downtown Charlottesville. When they assaulted antiracist counterprotesters, events culminated in the murder of counterprotestor Heather Heyer.

Journalist Nora Neus crafts an extraordinary account from the voices of the students, faith leaders, politicians, and community members who were there. Through original interviews, new statements, social media posts, court testimony, and government reports, this book portrays the arrival of white supremacist demonstrators, the interfaith service held in response, the tiki torch march on the university campus, and the protests and counterprotests in downtown Charlottesville.

Reclaiming Two-Spirits

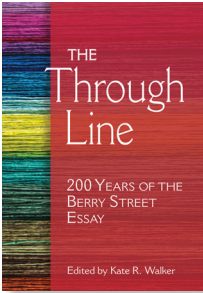

Sexuality, Spiritual Renewal, and Sovereignty in Native America
Gregory D. Smithers

Reclaiming Two-Spirits decolonizes the history of gender and sexuality in Native North America. It honors generations of Indigenous people who had the foresight to take essential aspects of their cultural life and spiritual beliefs underground in order to save them.

Before 1492, Indigenous groups across North America included people who identified as neither male nor female, but both. After colonizers invaded, centuries of violence and systematic persecution followed, imperiling the existence of people who today call themselves Two-Spirits.

Reclaiming Two-Spirits amplifies Two-Spirit voices and reconnects their history to Native nations in the 21st century.

The Sound of Kindness

Amy Ludwig VanDerwater,
Illustrated by Teresa Martinez

This heartwarming book touches on the themes of kindness and socio-emotional resonance, and the idea that our words matter.

Follow an adult and child as they explore their neighborhood, listening for the sounds of kindness. Words of friendship, gratitude, support, generosity, and love...

Kindness is all around us every day, if we know where to look—and listen!—for it. This book is a gentle and encouraging acknowledgment of how much it matters to be kind...in our families, friendships, and communities.

Every Body

A First Conversation About Bodies

Megan Madison & Jessica Ralli,
Illustrated by Tequitia Andrews

Based on the research that race, gender, consent, and body liberation should be discussed with children, even toddlers, this read-aloud board book offers adults the opportunity to begin important conversations with young children in an informed, safe, and supported way.

Developed by experts in the fields of early childhood and activism against injustice, this topic-driven picture book offers clear, concrete language and beautiful imagery to introduce the concept of body liberation. Every Body serves to celebrate the uniqueness of your body and all bodies, and addresses unfair ideas about bodies. It ends with motivational action points for making the world more fair for all!
